A Contest of Innovation

The Information Technology Competition is a competition hosted by MISSA in which teams of students from many West Coast universities apply their skills in information technology to real-world business scenarios to the best of their abilities. Their work is then analyzed, judged and critiqued by industry professionals. In addition to the opportunity to win cash prizes, participants gain contacts in the industry, valuable feedback on their work from professionals, and experience working in a business environment that includes competitive pressure, deadlines, and a team-oriented environment.

The 2006 Information Technology Competition at Cal Poly Pomona will be taking place on Saturday, May 6th, 2006. It will showcase the skills and talents of students throughout California in all areas of Information Technology.

Cash prizes will be awarded to winners in each event category mentioned to the right. We are requesting sponsorships for the following prizes:

- First Prize: $1350.00 (100% scaling for advertising)
- Second Prize: $750 (75% scaling)
- Third Prize: $500 (50% scaling)

This year, besides being able to only sponsor a prize, companies also have the choice to sponsor ITC's general budget for an amount at the sponsor's discretion.

All sponsors who provide a prize or donate at least $200 will receive a full-sized career table at ITC-X's concurrent career fair. Half-tables are available for $100. A catered breakfast and lunch will be provided to each company representative in attendance.

To ensure availability of your desired prize level and/or a table at the career fair, please confirm sponsorships as soon as possible.
